

Candidate running to serve on DCCC North Board of Directors

Name: Richard Kang

Company: Clavis Consultants

Title: General Manager

Summary:

Dear DCCC, I am Richard Kang, the General Manager of Clavis Consultants (Beijing) Ltd which was founded by Mr. Tom Behrens – Sorensen, the former Chairman of Maersk North Asia. I am writing this Letter of Intent to self-nominate as a new DCCC board member. For your reference, I summarized the reasons of my application and what I can contribute to the organization as following:

1, A native Chinese with strong connection with Denmark

I have worked in two Danish companies including 8 years in Maersk and 6 months in Clavis. I had 2 years expatriation in Denmark from 2006 to 2008. I love the country, culture, value and people of Denmark. As a native Chinese, I think it is an advantage of mine to engage with Chinese employees in DCCC member companies.

2, Attended DCCC events actively

I have attended most DCCC social events actively since I joined Clavis last Aug. I would like to have a closer connection with DCCC by being a board member.

3, Outgoing, creative, openness...

I am very outgoing and often have very creative ideas of things. And I am never afraid of sharing my ideas and suggestions with others. These have been well recognized by my former colleagues when I served as the Chairman of Maersk Beijing Staff Committee years ago.

4, Very good spoken English

I speak English fluently. There is no language issue for me to attend DCCC board meetings.
